Summary: AU. Hibari is a timid girl who likes her best friend Yagyuu and is determined to confess her true feelings. However, a honey-blonde girl also takes a liking of Hibari. Who will be the one for Hibari?

1. True Feelings and Rumors

A Room For Two

Pairing: Haruka x Hibari x Yagyuu

Genre: Romance/Drama

Disclaimer: I do not own Senran Kagura or any of its characters.

Author's Note: Hehe~! After reading Mike Powell's "Poles, Opposites" I decided to return the favor and write a multi-chaptered story. And no. Hehe~! Haruka's NOT the antagonist of this story. This is a threesome pairing as you already know, so yes. It may start out as a love triangle, butâ€|You'll find out why as the story progresses. Oh, since this is an AU, the HebiJo Crimson Squad go to the same school, just to make things easier.

So, I hope you all enjoy~!

"Yagyuu-chan!" a small pink haired girl calls. "Are you coming? We're going to be late!"

"I'm coming," the silver haired girl says in a calm tone as she closes the door behind her. She walks by the pink haired girl's side with a small smile. "Let's go, Hibari."

With a happy nod, Hibari turns around and trots along the path towards Hanzo Girls' Academy. The pink haired girl, Hibari, has been with her best friend, Yagyuu since middle school. When they first met, Hibari was slightly terrified of Yagyuu's stoic appearance, plus that strange eyepatch on her left eye. However, after the flower-eyed girl discovered Yagyuu's kindness and protection over her from some bullies, she started to have feelings for her. She never had anyone being so protective over her before. Usually, she's ignored by her classmates and such, but not Yagyuu. She's the only one who noticed the pink haired girl and the two have been best friends ever since. Yagyuu does not talk much in front of others, but she only talks to Hibari as much as she wants.

The walk towards the school is enjoyable for the two of them as they had talked to each other as usual. Once they enter the school, they notice a ton of girls walking around, trying to get to their class and such. Hibari couldn't help but steal glances at her silver haired friend. _Yayuu-chan_ she thinks to herself. _You're so cool looking! If only you know how I felt_

They may have been together for a long time, but Hibari is too shy to even tell her about her true feelings. They were best friends after all and Yagyuu might take it the wrong way or something. So, she kept her feelings to herself for the time being.

"Yagyuu-chan," she says. "Do you want to do something after school today?"

"Sure," the silver haired girl replies. "What do you want to do?"

"Anything as long as it's fun."

A small smile appears on Yagyuu's face. "Alright."

Hibari is happy. She is very glad that has Yagyuu as her friend. As they are heading to class, Hibari hears a voice from behind her.

"Hey!" a petite girl with long dark hair and also with an eyepatch on her right eye comes running toward her.

"Oh, hey, Mirai-chan," Hibari says.

"Hello," Yagyuu says. She turns to leave. "I'll be in the classroom."

"Oh, okay. I'll meet you there!" Hibari waves at her friend as the silver haired girl walks ahead of them.

"You two get along very well," Mirai says.

"We do," the pink haired girl replies with a smile. "That's why we're best friends."

Hibari became friends with Mirai about a month ago. She was alone eating lunch one time, so Hibari decided to sit by her. This made the petite girl happy and the two became friends ever since. Yagyuu didn't seem to mind, but since it's hard to tell from her stoic expression, Hibari just let it slide.

Class ends without any trouble, although Hibari kept stealing glances at Yagyuu and blushing. Her mind keeps on wondering into fantasy land with just her and her best friend. _Oh, Yagyuu-chan,_ she thinks to herself. _I love you. Somedayâ€¦if only I could confess to youâ€¦_ She's been trying from time to time to tell her best friend her true feelings, but because of her shy and timid nature, she's unable to. However, that doesn't stop her determination. She is sure one day, the time will come.

As the bell rings for next period, everyone gets up to get to their next class. However, Hibari and Yagyuu had different classes, so after waving farewell to each other, they went their separate ways. Mirai is able to catch up to the pink haired girl.

"Hey, Hibari~!" she says cheerfully.

"Mirai-chan!" Hibari replies happily.

"I saw you two just a minute ago," the petite girl says. "And you're right: you two get along very well."

"Mm-hmm~! We're best friends after all!"

The two girls walk in the halls together for a few minutes until Mirai pops a question.

"Say," she says. "Not to be nosey, butâ€¦have you had any crushes lately?"

"Eh!?" Hibari jumps at the question and blushes. "U-umâ€¦wellâ€¦not reallyâ€¦"

Mirai stops and leans closer towards the pink haired girl with a suspicious expression. "Hmmmâ€¦you're blushing, so that proves that you DO have a crush on someone. Right~?"

"N-now, you've got it all wrong, Mirai-chanâ€¦"

"And who might your crush be~?"

"Why do you want to know!? It's so embarrassing!"

"Come on! You're in high school now! And there are a bunch of girls here, so you must have a crush on someone~!"

Hibari swallows hard. _I guess I have no choice,_ she thinks to herself. "Alright, Mirai-chan. I guess I can't hide it from you anymore. The girl I like isâ€¦right over there!" She points her finger at a girl standing against the wall with 4 other girls gathered around her. "Yes, that's her!" She opens her eyes and her flower eyes widen at the site of a beautiful girl with curly honey-blond hair. _Waitâ€¦I know that girl!_

"Youâ€¦have a crushâ€¦on Haruka-sama?" Mirai is surprised herself. "A lot of girls are head over heels for her. I didn't know you were one of them, Hibari."

"U-ummmmâ€¦yeahâ€¦that's rightâ€¦" Hibari says with a nervous laugh. _I'm sure glad that Haruka-san is there,_ she thinks to herself. _She's the most popular girl in school, after all. I haven't talked to her in person, but I keep hearing rumors about her. _She looks up at the girl, who turns toward her with her emerald eyes staring into her flower eyes. And then, Haruka winks with a smile, making Hibari blush furiously. She quickly turns away and fast walks in the opposite direction and stops by the window.

W-w-what in the world was that!?! Hibari thinks.

Haruka-sanâ€|winked at me!? I've never seen her wink at anybody before. She'd just talk and laugh with them. She is beautiful, to be honest. But Yagyu-chan is still the only one for me. She turns her head towards Mirai walking up to Haruka and speaks to her. The honey blonde giggles and points to herself. Mirai nods and Haruka pets her hair like she's petting a kitten. Hibari giggles and heads off to her next class.

Later

Mirai and Haruka stand in the halls next to the window.

"So, you're saying that this cute girl is interested in me?" the honey-blonde asks.

"Yes! Hibari just told me that she liked you!" Mirai replies with excitement. "You should return her feelings!"

"Hehehe~! Oh, Mirai-chan, you're so sweet~!" Haruka giggles. "But is there proof that she really likes me?"

"Well, why don't you go ask her yourself? I mean, you two see each other in the halls almost every day, so why not give it a shot?"

"Hmmmâ€|I'll think about it," Haruka says. "But you know, even though I'm popular with most of the girls at this school, I never figured I'd talk to a cutie like you who lacks having a big chest like the rest of us~."

This makes Mirai angry. "What did you just say!?! Grr! You're gonna get it, Haruka-sama!" She tries to throw a punch at the senior, only for her fist to get caught by Haruka.

"Listen, sweetie," the honey-blonde says. "I know you're small and cute, but your attitude needs some major adjustments. Keep that up and no girl will ever love you."

"Not when you or other people make fun of my chest!" Mirai screeches.

"Right, rightâ€|" Haruka lets go of her hand and turns to leave. "You're a good person, Mirai-chan. I can tell you that. But work on that attitude of yours and the other girls will for sure take a liking of you."

Mirai looks at the honey-blonde as she walks off. A small smile appears on her face.

Next Day

Hibari and Yagyu walk to school as usual when they hear some talking from the other girls.

"Hey, did you hear?" one girl says. "This girl, Hibari-san, is going out with Haruka-sama."

"No way! I never knew that pink haired girl was even interested in her!"

"She barely talks to anyone but that stoic girl that's always with her."

Hibari sweat drops and turns toward the silver haired girl. "Umâ€¦did something happen yesterday that caused those rumors?"

"Not that I know of," Yagyuu replies. "But if anything happens, come and get me. I'll protect you."

"Thanks, Yagyuu-chan!" Hibari says happily. _Oh, Yagyuu-chan, I love you~!_ she thinks to herself.

In the school halls, she sees Mirai walking by. She decides to have a talk with her after class today.

>"Huh? Spread rumors?" Mirai asks. "I didn't do it."

"Don't try to fool me!" Hibari cries. "You're the only one who knows that I like Haruka-san!"

"Look, Hibari, if I did spread the rumors, I would want everyone to know your feelings for her." The petite girl crosses her arms. "But everyone knows that I keep to myself all the time, so they barely talk to me, more or less make fun of me. You should be really careful about who you point your finger to." With that, she walks away.

Hibari puts a fist on her chest. _Maybe Mirai-chan is right,_ she thinks to herself. _She often gets bullied, so I don't think they'll even listen to her if she told them about it. Time to scratch her off the list. Butâ€¦who else could it be?_

She turns to walk towards the school when she meets a trio of other girls who are slightly older than her. She backs away and trembles in fear from their scary look in their eyes.

"U-umâ€¦c-can I help you?" she asks.

"We want to talk to you for a minute," a girl with red curls in the front says. "We heard that you were going out with Haruka-sama."

"N-no. That's all wrong," Hibari says as she puts up her hands in defense. "We barely talk to each other. Sure, I like her, but that doesn't mean I'm going out with her."

"Please," the red haired girl scoffs. "You're lying through your teeth. I also heard you two even kissed."

Hibari jumps at what the girl had said. _K-Kissed!?!_ she thinks. _Who would've said such a thing!?!_

"Iâ€¦I gotta go!" the pink haired girl starts to make a run for it, but the other two girls grab hold of her.

"You're not running away from us," the red-haired girl says. "We want to teach you a lesson in not touching our Haruka-sama."

Hibari's body shakes in fear as she looks like a terrified puppy who is about to be whipped. She wanted to call for Yagyu, but she knows that she's going to a different class right now, so she's on her own. The red-haired girl walks toward her with a scary glare.

"Stay away from Haruka-sama," she says, coldly.

"P-please, don'tâ€¦" Hibari whimpers.

The red-haired girl raises a fist to punch her in the face with Hibari bracing for the impact. However, she feels nothing. She opens her eyes and looks up to see Haruka glaring at the girl while holding her wrist tightly.

"I think you should be the one who needs to stay away," Haruka says. "She doesn't deserve to be treated this way."

"B-butâ€¦" one of the other girls say.

"Now, I want you three to get lost," the honey-blonde demands. "Understand?"

All three girls back away a few steps and bow at the same time. "W-we're sorry, Haruka-sama!" they say in unison and then run off.

Hibari sighs in relief. "Thank you so much."

"No problem," Haruka says with a gentle smile. "You shouldn't really be out here alone when there's girls like them who are going to bully you like this."

"I understand."

The honey-blonde smiles. "So you'reâ€¦Hibari-chan, right?"

"Yes, how did you know my name?"

"Your friend, Mirai-chan, told me about you," Haruka replies. "You and her get along well."

"I see."

The flower eyed girl then decides to pop a question that's been on her mind. "Say, Haruka-san. There are these rumors that are going around that you and I are going out. Ifâ€¦if we don't find the idiot who did this-

"No need to worry, sweetie~!" Haruka says with a wink. "I already know the idiot~" She points to herself. "It's me~!"

Hibari gasps. "Y-you?" She can't believe what she just heard. "Why? Why would you say things like that!?"

Haruka just giggles. "Because I like you, Hibari-chan~!"

"Huh? Since when?"

Haruka's smile remains on her face. "Since the day of the entrance ceremony. Do you remember that?"

Hibari stares at the girl until it hits her. "Oh, yeah! I do! You were there helping me out when I was lost, right?"

"Correct," the honey-blonde replies. "Right when I laid eyes on you as I guided you, I immediately took interest in you."

"Oh, my gosh!" Hibari cups her hand to her mouth. "I never knew that Haruka-san even liked me in the first place!"

"A-anyways, we have to stop the rumors from spreading any further!" And then, she realized another thing. She quickly puts her hands on the honey-blonde's shoulders. "Haruka-san! Please tell me you didn't tell anyone else in this school!"

Haruka stays silent as her smile still remains.

"Kyaaaaa!" Hibari squeaks and punches the senior's chest, only they were soft punches. "You stupid, stupid, stupid girl! How could you do this!? That's so embarrassing!" "What if it spreads to Yagyuu-chan?" she thinks. "Haruka-san, listen. We have to do something about it! How can we keep from the rumors spreading any further!?"

Haruka looks down at the small girl. "I know one thing we could do."

"You do!? What is it?"

The honey-blonde gently puts her hands on the pinkette's shoulders. "We make the rumors true." She tips her chin to her level. "I love you!" Hibari-chan," she whispers. With that, she leans in and touches lips with hers.

Hibari couldn't move a muscle as she feels Haruka's lips make contact with hers. Her heart beats rapidly and a blush on her face is redder than ever before. Hibari got her first kiss from a popular senior in the whole school.

>AN: And we'll end it here~! And for those of you who are thinking that Mirai is the antagonist, well she's not. I'm not really good at those antagonistic behaviors anyways, so I have to think of something else to get the drama going. **

Feel free to give out any suggestions, questions or concerns and don't forget to review~! ;)

2. Love, Truth and Confession

Chapter 2

Love, Trust and Confession

Hibari stays frozen for what it seems like hours. The kiss has her so paralyzed that she can neither say anything nor move a muscle. Haruka pulls away with a smile.

"Now, it's not a rumor anymore~!" she says. "If you're taken, everyone can't make fun of you." Her smile fades as she notices the flower eyed girl staring out into space. "Hello? Earth to Hibari-chan~?" She waves her hand over her face to get her attention, but Hibari remains still. She smirks and rubs her chin. "Well, well~. If that's surprising, then let's do it again~!" She leans in to kiss the pink haired girl once more when she gets pushed away.

"Ah! I almost forgot!" Hibari cries. "I-I need to head to class! I'm so sorry, Haruka-san!" With that, she runs off with a burst of speed.

Haruka gapes at the small figure getting smaller as she heads towards the school. A small smile curls up on her face with a soft giggle.

"Oh, Hibari-chan~" she coos. "You cute, clever girl~. This is why I love you so much."

Restroom***

Hibari washes her face for at least the 5th time and wipes her mouth. _Why, why, why, why!?!_ she thinks. _Why would Haruka-san kiss me and catching me off guard!?!_ She turns off the water and hangs her head down. _Someone please help me!_

P.E Class***

At the locker room, Hibari gets changed into her P.E uniform and heads towards the gym when Mirai comes running toward her.

"Hey! Hey!" she says. "I heard it! Everyone's talking about you and Haruka-sama!"

Hibari quickly puts her finger toward her mouth while frantically waving her arm back and forth.

"Shhhh!"

"But it's true!" Mirai says. "You and Haruka-sama are truly going out, just like everyone said!"

"Mirai-chan!"

Just then, she looks back and sees her friend, Yagyuu giving the cold stare at not only Mirai, but to Hibari as well. The flower eyed girl gasps at the expression, feeling afraid that she might get mad at her, but Yagyuu just simply walks away without a word. Mirai looks over from behind Hibari.

"Oh, my gosh!" she says. "Poor Yagyuu-san. I wonder if she's having a bad day."

But Hibari isn't listening to the petite girl. Instead, she stares at

Yagyuu's back with a sad expression. _Youâ€|heard about it, too, didn't you?_ she thinks. _About the kiss and everythingâ€|_

As class starts, Hibari isn't in the mood to do anything. Everyone is partnered up for basketball outside, except for her, so she just sat at the side of the court, just watching. She hangs her head down with her long bangs hiding her expression. She loved Yagyuu since they first met in middle school. She is the flower eyed girl's protector and the only one she talked to when no one else would. She was no longer the lonely girl she used to be because Yagyuu was always there for her. And Hibari was determined to go to the same school the silver haired girl was attending because she knows she's attending there. She thought it was all worth it when both of them entered high school. But she didn't count on meeting the most popular girl and then having rumors spread about her and Haruka going out. Those thoughts flow through her mind as she is on the verge of crying.

All of a sudden, a pair of arms wraps around her from behind, making her jump.

"Awww~! My little darling, Hibari-chan, is so sad~!" Haruka coos.

Hibari pushes the honey-blonde away. "H-H-Haruka-san!? What in the world are you doing here!?"

The senior giggles. "I'm actually on break at this time, or rather at study hall, but I decided to have a walk instead."

"How did you know where to find me?"

"Mirai-chan told me where you currently go during this period."

Hibari glances over at the petite girl, who is desperately trying her hardest to shoot at least one hoop, but stomps her foot at every miss. The honey-blonde sits next to her as she notices the teacher helping Mirai out without bothering to see what's going on at the side of the court and then looks back at the pink haired girl.

"Why do you look so down?" Haruka asks in a calm voice. "We kissed, right? You should be happy."

Hibari doesn't say anything as she curls up into a ball and hangs her head down. She didn't feel like talking with her senior at the moment as many other things have been swirling in her mind. Haruka gives a gentle smile and reaches over to pet Hibari's head like a puppy.

"There, there, darling~" she coos. "Everything will be okay."

"Hey, do you think these two are going out?" one girl asks just about 10 feet away from them.

"Sure looks it," another says. "Although, Hibari-san doesn't look happy about it."

"But Haruka-sama looks like she's enjoying it, right?" the third girl says.

Yagyuu looks over from her shoulder, staring at Haruka and Hibari together. Despite hearing the rumors, she feels that she needs some answers from the honey-blonde herself.

Later

Yagyuu walks in the halls alone while Hibari is on cleaning duty when she notices Haruka walking by. She walks towards the honey-blonde and gently taps her on the shoulder to get her attention.

When Haruka turns towards the silver haired girl, Yagyuu gives her the usual cold stare.

"You and I need to have a talk," she says.

Haruka points to herself to make sure she wasn't hearing things. Shortly after, the two head towards the back garden where no one is present. Haruka leans against the wall with a casual smile.

"I heard a rumor that you kissed Hibari," Yagyuu starts. "Is it true?"

"Maybe," Haruka replies. "Do you have any connection with Hibari-chan?"

The silver haired girl crosses her arms. "Look, I'm the one asking the questions here."

"And I'm the one _not _answering them~" Haruka sticks her tongue out.

Yagyuu looks at the honey-blonde's emerald eyes for what it seems like minutes. For Yagyuu, she feels that there is something in Haruka that doesn't sit well with her at all. Then, the silver haired girl speaks up once again.

"I don't trust you one bit," she says, coldly. "If you're trying to anything dangerous to her, then I want you to stop it. She may be shy and timid, but she's not stupid."

Haruka hums seductively as she looks up and down at Yagyuu's appearance. "Hmmm~|alright then. What if I said that I like her~?"

"What are you saying?" Yagyuu presses.

"If I like her, then I'm not doing anything serious, unless necessary," Haruka replies.

"O~|kay~|?"

"Hibari-chan is a really cute girl. That's why I love her so much." She winks at Yagyuu. "But I'm curious to know if you're able to do the same thing, considering how shy and timid Hibari-chan is." She leans close and whispers in the silver haired girl's ear. "If you don't hurry, you won't be able to make your first move with your girl, right~?"

After she pulls away, Yagyuu has had enough. With one strike, a blur of a fist blows past Haruka and hears some crumbling of bricks behind her.

"Just stay away from Hibari!" Yagyuu demands. "Or I won't miss next time!"

Without another word, the silver haired girl walks away. Haruka slowly turns her head towards a fist sized hole beside her with a sweat drop and a nervous smile, wondering how in the world can a girl like her punch a wall that hard.

1 Hour Later

Yagyuu sighs after closing her locker. After first meeting and confronting Haruka for the first time, she feels that she needs to protect her best friend even more. She's not sure whether or not she can trust the popular senior, but what she does know is that she's all but trouble.

Just then, she hears a high-pitched, but cute voice coming from her left.

"Oh, is that you, Yagyuu-san?" Mirai says. "I thought you would be home by now."

"I'm waiting for Hibari," the silver haired girl says.

"Then, let's wait by the courtyard until she's done."

Yagyuu stares at the petite girl until she nods in agreement, closes her locker and follows Mirai towards the courtyard. Once they arrived there, Mirai sits on a bench while Yagyuu just stands there, looking around.

"Say, Yagyuu-san?" the petite girl speaks up.

"Hm?"

"Can I just call you Yagyuu?"

"Sure."

Mirai smiles. "That's great!"

Suddenly, they hear some voices from their right.

"Haruka-san! Why do you always have to follow me everywhere!?" a voice that sounds like Hibari's shouts.

"What~? Isn't that what we usually do when we go on dates~?" Haruka asks with a sweet smile.

Yagyuu clenches her fists. "I already warned that girl!" She is about to go after her when she hears something that makes her stop in her tracks.

"Haruka-san, stop!" Hibari says as she turns toward her. "I already have someone I like!"

Yagyuu and Mirai gasp at what the flower eyed girl said.

"Oh~?" Haruka smirks. "And who might that be~?"

"It'sâ€|Yagyuu-chan," Hibari replies quietly with a slight blush.

"Ah, it's that silver haired friend of yours that you're always with, right?" Haruka asks.

"Yes. I've liked her ever since we were in middle school together."

Yagyuu blushes at Hibari's confession.

"Have you ever told your friend how you feel?" Haruka asks. Her expression is no longer seductive, but full of concern.

"No, but I'm going to." Hibari replies.

The honey-blonde walks closer and leans over towards her. "Alright, when? If you keep it to yourself, you might miss your chance."

"I know, butâ€|"

"But what?"

"Back in middle school, the girls would always pick on me on how shy and timid I was and that no one will even like me. So, I figured that Yagyuu wouldn't even love me if I stayed that way," Hibari explains. "It bothered me, but that never stopped me from being with Yagyuu-chan. We've talked a lot yes, but I never found out about her love interests. Not even once."

"I see," Haruka says.

Hibari smiles. "I like Yagyuu-chan. She's my only friend I have. And I'm sorry, but this is why I'm not interested in going out with you."

However, Haruka did not want to listen to the last part and quickly hugs the small girl.

"Awww~! You're so cute when you blush like that!" she squeals. "I'm SO happy that I became friends with you, Hibari-chan~!"

"STOOOOOP!" Hibari cries as she flails her arms, trying to break free.

Mirai stares at the two. "No way! I thought she liked Haruka-sama, but I guess I was wrong. What do you think, Yagyuu?" She turns toward the silver haired girl. "Huh?"

Yagyuu stands there frozen and blushing at the same time. She can't believe she actually heard Hibari say that. It actually makes her feel warm inside. Mirai stares at the stoic girl for a minute and then smiles. She is happy that the two heard the conversation.

I wish you both great happiness, she thinks to herself.

>Later on, as more girls head home for the day, Hibari is at her shoe locker when Mirai walks over towards her.

"This is from Haruka-sama," she whispers as she hands her a folded piece of paper and then walks away.

Hibari wanted to ask her why, but she's already gone. She unfolds the paper and reads:

"If you want advice on confessing your love to Yagyuu-san, meet me at the courtyard. I'll be waiting for you, darling."

"â€"Haruka"

Hibari gapes at the paper. She is curious to see what the honey-blonde has to say, so that she'll be able to confess to her without any trouble. With extra energy stored in her, she hurries towards where Haruka is waiting.

Courtyard

Haruka sits by the large fountain, playing around with her hair a little. It's been only 15 minutes, but the honey-blonde is getting a little impatient. She wants to talk with Hibari alone, so she can enjoy her time with her, despite hearing Hibari's love for Yagyuu. _Hibari-chan sure is a bit late,_ she thinks to herself. _I hope she didn't get lost again._ She digs into her bag to take out a box of chocolates she's planning on giving Hibari as a good luck gift. She also takes out a small notebook and opens it, revealing a photo of her and some other beautiful girl with violet hair. She bites her lip from staring at it and is about to crumble it into a ball when a strong wind blows, making her let go of the photo. It flies over and gets caught on a branch on a tall tree. Sighing, she reluctantly stands up and climbs up two branches to get to the third branch with the photo hanging on the end. She strains as she reaches over for the photo, making sure she's careful not to fall. She scoots a bit closer to get a better reach until she successfully grabs hold of the photo. She sighs in relief as she puts it back in her skirt pocket.

However, she hears some cracking and gasps as she tries to move back.

"Ahhhhh!" she screams.

But it's too late and the branch breaks, causing Haruka to fall back.

>Hibari rushes through the halls, not even caring if she gets scolded by the female teachers or not, right towards the courtyard.

"Haruka-san!" she calls. "I'm here!"

There is no response.

"Haruka-san?"

She decides to look for the senior and starts walking. She looks around at the beautiful place she rarely goes to during the school day, mostly at the garden and such. She'll have to go there with Yagyuu some time when they are not studying. When she arrives near the fountain, she finds Haruka's bag and a box of chocolates next to it. She trots over towards it and looks around for Haruka. However, when she turns around, she sees the honey-blonde lying on her side with a large branch next to her and leaves all over her.

"H-Haruka...san?" Hibari quickly rushes towards the senior and turns her over, facing up. She gently tries to shake her awake. "Haruka-san! Haruka-san, wake up!" she cries. She leans down to check for breathing. Thankfully, she is. "Thank goodness, she's still breathing."

She then hears some other voices from behind her.

"Hehe! I know, right?" Mirai says. "You should totally try this meal sometime!" She turns to see Hibari holding Haruka in her arms. "Oh, my gosh! What happened!?"

Hibari turns towards the two with tears in her eyes. "Yagyuu-chan! Mirai-chan! Haruka-san is unconcious! Go get the nurse, quickly!"

"On it!" In an instant, Mirai immediately sprints down towards the school.

Hibari feels Haruka move a little, plus letting out a soft groan. She opens her eyes slowly to see the flower eyed girl looking down at her.

"H-Hibari...chan..." she says, weakly.

"Haruka-san!" Hibari cries. "The nurse is going to come and get you! Just hang in there!"

Haruka closes her eyes once more.

>At the infirmary, a young woman with violet hair tied in a pony tail turns towards Yagyuu and Hibari with a smile on her face.

"Haruka-san will be just fine," she assures the both of them. "All she needs is some rest."

Hibari sighs in relief. "Ah, good."

Haruka sits up a little with a smile on her face. "Thanks for saving me, Hibari-chan~! That was very kind of you! I love you, sweetie~!"

BONK!

A hard punch on the head comes from the school nurse. "Oh, just be quiet and rest, will ya!?"

Haruka rubs her head in pain. "Suzune-sensei, that's no way to treat a girl that just fell off a tree!"

"That's for your stupidity in the first place!" Suzune shouts.

Hibari giggles and Yagyuu wraps an arm around her, signalling her to leave.

"I'll never forget this, Hibari-chan~!" Haruka calls, despite Suzune trying to keep her under control. "Thanks for everything! I'll see you tomorrow!"

Hibari waves back at her and she and Yagyuu leave the infirmary. They walk outside and the sun is already setting. Yagyuu walks ahead of her, but slightly turns her head to speak to her friend.

"Haruka-san is lucky that you were there," she says.

"Oh, it's nothing really," Hibari says while laughing nervously and rubbing the back of her head. "If we haven't come when we did, Haruka-san would've been dead or something. I couldn't just leave her like that."

A soft chuckle comes from Yagyuu, but turns away. Hibari sees her expression and gasps. _Oh, no! _she thinks. _She saw me holding Haruka-san! And probably wonderfing if I was going to kiss her or not! She'll never like me now!_

"Hibari," Yagyuu says.

The flower eyed girl turns toward her friend. "Y-yes?"

"I...I overheard the conversation earlier..." Yagyuu says as she has a slight blush on her face.

Wh-wh-what!?! Hibari thinks. _She actually heard that!?!_ She couldn't believe she had said her confession without even knowing Yagyuu was even there.

"You know, Hibari, I really don't mind you being your shy and timid self," the stoic girl says. She turns toward her, walks over and gently takes her hands in hers. "In fact, I'm in love with you, too."

Hibari gasps with her flower eyes widened. In her heart, it feels like a miracle has just come.

>AN: Yes, I know! I know! That was very stupid of Haruka. It just came to my mind, that's all. Anyways, what will happen then? Will Hibari finally have the girl of her dreams? Stay tuned for the next chapter! And for Haruka, she's still NOT the antagonist of the story. It will just be a fued between her and Yagyuu. You'll know what I mean as the story progresses. **
